

the future of meat

without ANIMALS

JUNE 4 - 7 · 2015 · CLAREMONT · CA

Following recent financial and cultural endorsements of meatless meat companies by major public figures, The Future of Meat Without Animals will explore the history of animal-free meat and dairy products, as well as economic, agricultural, religious, cultural, and gender issues surrounding a future of meatless meat. In our eight conversation-based 90-minute sessions, we will assess opportunities and obstacles in moving global meat consumption to scalable, affordable, accessible, plant-based meat for the global population. Is this a feasible aim? Is it a meaningful intervention in the global food system? And what cross-disciplinary, transnational, and theoretical partnerships will be needed to make such a goal come to fruition?

Ethan Brown CEO, Beyond Meat

Jaya Bhumitra Mercy for Animals

Brianne Donaldson Monmouth College

Matthew Calarco California State University, Fullerton

Aaron Gross University of San Diego

Zandra Wagoner University of LaVerne

Adam Wolpa Calvin College

Steven McMullen Hope College

Michael Anderson Graduate Theological Union

Christopher Carter Claremont School of Theology

Rebekah Sinclair University of Oregon

Song Tian Beijing Normal University

and others . . .

REGISTER AT:
WWW.
meatwithoutanimals.
weebly.com

The Future of Meat Without Animals (FMA) is one of 80+ conferences within the wider 10th Annual International Whitehead Event, Seizing an Alternative: Toward an Ecological Civilization. Although some conferences will emphasize Whitehead, most will not (including FMA) and no specialized knowledge is required. Registration provides access to all 80+ conferences and plenary speakers.

PANDO POPULUS™

Where big ideas come down to Earth.